Background with Aim and objectives:

Education is a backbone of the society. Without education, no society can achieve the path of overall development. Education gives us knowledge. It is a only solution for the progress of any country. So, It has great impact for the overall development of any country. In a country like, India only about 13.00 percent people were literate during the period of independence. It was one of the serious hindrance of India's development. However, many policies and programmes were made and implemented. Even many voluntary organizations have been doing for the development of the level of Education and getting success. Now, the literacy rate of India has increased i.e., 85 percent. However, many rural areas literacy rate are still low. Keeping such issues, Patharkandi College N.S.S Unit has adopted one village i.e. Rajbari & it's one among the aims and objectives is to make an educational awareness programme. Because, literacy rate of this village is not up to the level of satisfaction.
