Celebration of International Day of Mathematics
March 14, 2022

The Department of Mathematics, Patharkandi College, Patharkandi, Karimganj-788724, Assam celebrated the International Day of Mathematics very enthusiastically in hybrid mode on 14th March, 2022. To celebrate the spirit of mathematics learning, the students of B. Sc.(H), Mathematics department prepared beautiful sketches on Pi, gave speeches. Also, the excitement was at peak with the cake cutting ceremony, where Students brought a cake with a design of Pi. The principal & faculty members of Department of Mathematics, Zoology, Physics, Botany graced the occasion. In addition, to match with the theme "Mathematics unites" of the celebration of the International Day of Mathematics or famously known as International Pi Day, the Department of Mathematics, Patharkandi College in association with Department of Mathematics, Eastern Karbi Anglong College organized a national webinar on "Pi & its contribution in Sciences". In the webinar around 100 participants from many prestigious institutions from all around the country have actively participated. The Programme started with the welcome address by Dr. Munmi Saikia, Assistant Professor & Head, Department of Mathematics, Patharkandi College, Assam. The day has been segmented by two sessions with two talks by two esteemed speakers from renowned institutions of the country. In the session I, Dr. Surinder Pal Singh Kainth, Assistant Professor, Department of Mathematics, Panjab University delivered a very informative talk on "An interaction with Pi (π) – its journey from Mathematics to Computer Science". He gave valuable insights on the contribution of Pi through his talk. Whereas, the second speaker Dr. Naba Kanta Sarma Assistant professor, Department of Mathematics, Assam University, Silchar enlightened the participants in the second session with his talk "A simple proof of irrationality of Pi".

The celebration was aimed to spread awareness about importance of mathematics and to have a better understanding of contribution of Pi in various field of sciences. Both the talks by the esteemed speakers of the sessions have fulfilled the aim and justified completely the theme of the webinar.

Dr. Tazmin Sultana, Assistant Professor, Dept. of Mathematics, Eastern Karbi Anglong College, Karbi Anglong ended the webinar Programme with the formal vote of thanks.
